Pastor's Note

“For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior which is Christ the Lord.”
(Luke 2:11)

These words of the angels to the shepherds so many years ago ring out in our ears again and again. The coming of God incarnate, to save all people from sin and death. The gift of grace from God, a Savior, who gives of one's self for all. This gift is freely given to receive new life through Christ our Lord. This gift is born in a manger, “King of kings, and Lord of lords,” the “Alpha and the Omega.” God's saving power has come.

These are words we hear as we gather to celebrate the birth of God's Son. The words are a witness to God's ever presence in our lives today as in the time of Jesus' birth. God caring for the people who were oppressed, hurting, terrified, confused, and alone, but who still had hope. That hope continues to live within our hearts today with the coming of Jesus again, in all Christ's glory.

Today, the start of a new decade is an opportunity for all of us to live into the hope and love that came the first Christmas morning each and every day. The light that shines in the darkness of our days beams within us to give us hope for today and for days to come, to live into the light of Christ shining for all to see, Christ living in us.

The Magi followed the light of the star to the newborn Savior, offering gifts to the new king. The visitations of the wise men bearing gifts represent the coming of the Gentiles into the presence of God through the baby Jesus.

Today, in 2020, the same as the wise men were lead by the light; we too are lead by the light and life of Christ, through the Holy Spirit in our lives offering ourselves to serving the King of kings and Lord of lords. In our daily living, and relationship with God through Christ bear gifts through our proclamation of God's love of justice and peace for others. May the light of Christ shine in our hearts today and everyday.

“You are the light of the world” and “Let your light shine.” (Matthew 5:14-16)

May everyone have a blessed New Year!!

Peace, Blessings and Love to All.

2020 How Amazing!

At the beginning of a New Year it is ever important for each of us to look back (if but for a few moments) to mark in our minds and in our hearts those events beyond everyday affairs in our lives. Yes, to learn from our mistakes, but also to grow in wisdom, maturity, faith, patience, self-control, etc.

And certainly then for us to use that knowledge and insight to strongly affect the year that stands before us. Besides this personal situation, it is also good to look at our church life:

How we can grow, what we can change to better serve our Lord, in what ways ministry needs to happen, all of the above and more.

May the blessings of God abound in our lives and in our church.

Two brand new AEDs were installed-one located in the fellowship hall and one in the narthex.

Both AEDs are semi automatic and will tell you exactly what to do. They also have one set of adult and pediatric pads.

The 911 operator will help provide CPR instructions and how to operate the AED device.

There you will find a printed guideline procedure next to the AED machine.

Growing Stewards Step by Step Twelve Devotions and Prayers

Stewardship is a spiritual issue not a financial issue. The journey to being a good steward has many steps. For some people this starts with reading, reflection and prayer. Here is the ninth of twelve devotions for this purpose. The inspiration for these writings is taken from Stepping Stones of a Steward by Ron Vallet (Eerdsman's Publishing; Grand Rapids, MI; © 1989).

Devotion 9 Being Willing to Take Risks Matthew 13:44-45

Can you empathize with the farmer described in this passage? What are you willing to go and sell everything for so you can obtain it? The first step is to identify what you want to obtain. This means establishing a priority. What is most important to you? At one time I might have said a new car. However, I have had several new cars and have come to realize each one loses its attraction. At another time I might have said a new house. Again, after a number of years, I realized it is the relationships and events that happen within the house that are most important.

If you made a list of what was most important to you today, what would it look like? What items would be at the top of the list? What would be at the bottom? Would your priorities be different than five years ago? How about five years from now?

In some form or another, each person goes through this process almost every day. One moment we are dreaming about the possibilities in life and the next we are trying to keep focused on realistic priorities. The basic question is who or what is your treasure?

Reflecting further on this parable, it has a different meaning if we consider God as the leading character and not ourselves. What does it mean if God is willing to sell everything to obtain our heart and our soul? What would God be willing to do to obtain this priceless gift? Is it possible that God would be willing to take a risk, to give up the life of a son to attain this gift? This truly is a great sacrifice. How willing might you be to make a similar sacrifice?

As believers in Jesus Christ, there are times when it is appropriate for us to take risks. This may be in our own life or in the ministry of our congregation. As people of God and stewards of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, we are given both the permission and responsibility to break out of the molds of this world in order to open the door for God's reign. We are the field, the pearl and the treasure that God so loves, and thus entrusts us to take risks.

As Paul Tournier wrote, "What I have to do is put my signature at the foot of a blank page on which I will accept whatever God wishes to write. I cannot predict what he will put on this blank contract as my life proceeds – but I give my signature today." Have you done this already? Are you willing to do this? When we realize that we are the treasure for whom God gave up Jesus, then perhaps we can treasure doing God's will, whatever the risk

Let us Pray: O God, whether farmer, merchant, leader or follower, help us to realize that we are each your treasure. We each struggle with our priorities. Help us to remember the sacrifice you have made and discern your will. As stewards of the Gospel, open our hearts to the Holy Spirit and empower us by your grace so the risks we take will use our gifts for the sake your reign in the church and the world. Amen.
